New South Carolina Law

Under the new hands-free law drivers are not allowed to hold, support a mobile electronic device with any part of the body. Including reading, composing or transmitting text emails, app interactions, or website information; no games, videos, movies, or video calls. If you violate the law, you will be subject to a fine; second offense is a fine and points off your license. This law goes into effect September 1, 2025. The first 180 days after the law goes into effect law enforcement will only give out warnings. Starting February 28th, 2026 law enforcement will begin to issue tickets. Don't wait until then. Just stop using & holding your phone when you are driving. Most newer vehicles are designed to have hands free phone built in. If you don't have that you can get a FM transmitter on Amazon that works the same way. If you have questions come see me.

Fall Favorites: Harvest Festivals!

The change of leaves and seasons brings a fall favorite—harvest festivals! Communities all over the country gather during September to celebrate their summer bounty, enjoy delicious treats and take in the autumn attractions.

Harvest festivals truly bring fun for the whole family with traditional games, corn stalk mazes and pumpkin patches. Festival-goers can enjoy a hayride to feast their eyes on the glorious colors of the changing leaves. Many fall carnivals also feature original work from local artists and craftsmen.

Folks are sure to work up an appetite at their local harvest festival. Many vendors offer tasty fall foods like caramel apples, kettle corn and honey sticks. Don't forget to wash down the spices of the season with a steaming mug of apple cider.

Many festivals have their own cultural heritage and local flavors. In many towns, people line the streets to celebrate Oktoberfest in traditional German dress, dancing to polka music. Other festivals feature hot air balloon rides, apple harvests or fair competitions.

Check this month's calendar for all things autumn. When you're choosing your next activity, consider trying something new. Remember: variety is the (pumpkin) spice of life.
